For your information, Congress excluded three discrete categories of law enforcement and national security records from the requirements of the FOIA. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(c) (2006 & Supp. IV (2010)). This response is limited to those records that are subject to the requirements of the FOIA. when Henry's mother died it wa n't bad. nice Catholic funeral. the priest waved some smoking sticks and it was all over. the coffin remained closed. Henry went right from that funeral to the racetrack. had a good day. found a light yellow girl there and they went to her apartment. she cooked steaks and they made it. when his father died it was more complicated. they left the coffin open and he had the last look. before that, the old man's girlfriend, somebody he'd never met, a Shirley, this Shirley reached into the coffin, moaning and crying and grabbed that dead head and 'kissed it. they had to pull her off. then when Henry came down the steps this Shirley grabbed him and started kissing him, "oh, you look just like your father!" he got hot as she kissed him and when he shoved her off something was showing through his pants. he hoped the people didn't notice. he made a note to check Shirley out. she wasn't much older than he. he went from the funeral to the track, but no high yellow this time. and he also lost some money. the old man had left his stigma on him.

the lawyer said no will had been left. there was no money but there was a house and a car. Henry wasn't working so he moved right in. and drank. drank with his old girlfriend Maggy. he'd get up about noon and water the damned lawn. and the flowers. the old man liked flowers. he watered the flowers. he stood there hungover, remembering how the old man had hated him because Henry didn't like to work, just drink and lay up with women.

now he had the damn house and the car and the old man was down in the dirt. he got to know the neighbors. especially the guy on the North. some guy who was manager of a laundry. Harry. this Harry had a yard full of birds. 5,000 dollars full of birds. all kinds. from everywhere. they were strangely colored and strangely shaped and some of them talked one of them kept saying over and over again, "go to hell! go to hell!" Henry squirted water on the thing but it was no use, the bird said "got a match?" and then it said "go to hell!"

5 or 6 times, real fast. the whole yard was full of wire cages. Harry lived for the booze, and the gash. Maybe he'd try one of those birds. how do you screw a bird?

Maggy was good on the springs but she was Irish-Indian and had one hell of a temper when she drank. once in a while he had to hit her. he got Shirley's phone number and asked to come over. she started kissing him again, saying he looked like his father. he let her, and kissed back. he didn't make it that night, choosing to wait and make sure. he didn't want to scare her.

Harry came over almost every night with his wife and they all drank. Harry talked about the birds. the birds hated Harry's wife. Harry's wife crossed her legs real high while talking about how she hated the birds and Henry got something working under his pants. god-damned women kept teasing him. then Shirley started coming over and they all drank together. Maggy didn't like Shirley there and Henry kept looking from Shirley to Harry's wife and wondering which one would be best. so it all happened the same night. Harry's wife got drunk and let all the birds out, 5,000 dollars worth of birds, and Harry sat in shock, drunk, and then he started screaming and hitting his wife. everytime he hit his wife she fell down and Henry peeked up her dress. he saw her panties several times. he started getting hot as hell. Maggy ran outside trying to catch the birds and put them in their cages but she couldn't seem to catch them. they were running all up and down the street, sitting in trees, standing on rooftops, 5,000 dollars worth of crazy birds, all different colors and shapes, tasting the confusion of freedom. Henry couldn't stand it anymore and grabbed Shirley and took her into the bedroom. he stripped her down and got on top. he was almost too drunk to operate. each time Harry hit his wife, his wife screamed and he gave it an extra little thrust. When Maggy came in with a bird, a bird with an orange tuft on its head and an orange tuft on its chest and 2 orange tufts at the top of the feet, the rest of the bird was grey skin and stupid. he'd cost Harry $300. Maggy hollered, "I caught a bird!" and when she didn't see Henry she went into the bedroom and when she saw what was happening she just sat in a chair with the bird on her lap, watching and screaming, and Harry kept knocking his wife down and she kept screaming. and when the police came in that's the way it was. 2 young cops. the cops pulled Henry off, made everybody put on their clothes and took them down to the station. another patrol car came up with 2 other young cops. Maggy got vicious and hit one of the cops and they took her alone in one of the patrol cars. the cops drove the car into the hills and they each screwed Maggy in the back seat. they had to handcuff her. the other cops took Henry Harry, Shirley, Harry's wife down to the station, booked them and jailed them. and the birds ran all up and down the street. that Sunday the preacher spoke of the "letcherous alcoholics who bring sin and shame to our community." Maggy was the only one who was out of jail. she was very religious. she sat in the front row with her legs crossed high. from the pulpit the preacher could look right up her legs. he could almost see the panties. he started to get something under his pants. the pulpit, luckily, hid this section of him from view. he had to look out the window and keep talking until the thing under his pants went away.

Harry lost his job. Henry sold the house. the preacher made it with Maggy. Shirley married a tv repairman. Harry sat around looking at the empty cages and the birds starved and died in the streets. every time he saw another dead bird he beat his wife again. Henry gambled and drank away the money from the house in 6 months.

my name is Henry. Charles is my middle name. wasn't bad. nice Catholic funeral. smoking when my father died it was more complicated. they left the coffin open and the old man's girl-friend reached into the coffin . . . kissed that started the whole thing.

The June, 1963 issue of "Mainstream" contains an article entitled "LITTLE MAGAZINES IN AMERICA: CONCLUSION OF SYMPOSIUM", beginning on page 38, which sets forth, in part, the following editor's notes of explanation:

"With these few last contributions we bring our Little Mag symposium to a close. We would like to thank our Contributing editor, Walter Lowenfels, whose fertile imagination conceived the thing. For those who would like to review what writers and editors in the thick of the little magazine movement think, we refer them to the November and December 1962 Mainstreams. All told, we received sixteen responses and, with this issue, met our promise of publishing everyone who replied to Walter Lowenfels original questionnaire. Little re-editing was done because, we discovered, little magazine writers are developing a language of their own, coining new words, deliberately misspelling others. Charles Bukowski's reply is the only one which we have censored for obscenity, and there only in a few places. We have let most of the contributors swear their heads off. But Mr. Bukowski, as he confesses, was drinking when he wrote his reply. Since we weren't drinking when we edited him, nor do we think our readers will be drinking when they read him, we thought he had us at too much of an advantage. Therefore the XXXX's. We wish to publicly thank everybody who has contributed to the "symposium. Walter Lowenfels called the little magazine movement a literary 'underground of the USA that can't be stopped.' Whether or not this is true--and some of the small editors themselves said it was not--it is a lively, fascinating movement..."

Set forth thereafter, on pages 43-45, are the comments contributed to this symposium by one CHARLES BUKOWSKI, Poet, not further identified.

Information concerning "Mainstream" is set forth on page 192 of the "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications", revised and published 12/1/61, prepared and released by the Committee on Un-American Activities, U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C.

On August 6, 1963, a representative of the Bureau of Special Services, New York City Police Department (NYCPD), advised SA AUGUST J. MICEK that that bureau's records contained no information identifiable with CHARLES BUKOWSKI, Poet.

Miss [redacted] Clerk, Credit Bureau of Greater New York, New York, New York, advised IC [redacted] on August 6, 1963, that a review of the credit files located no information identifiable with CHARLES BUKOWSKI.

The following public source material maintained at the New York Public Library, 42nd Street and Fifth Avenue, New York, New York, was reviewed by SA [redacted] on 7/26/63, and no information was located which could be identified with CHARLES BUKOWSKI, Poet:

A review of the current Borough of Manhattan, New York Telephone Directory located no listings therein which could be identified with Underground Communications, Inc. and/or Underground Digest.

A review of the indices of the NYO located no references therein pertaining to Underground Communications, Inc., aka Underground Digest, P.O. Box 211, Village Station, New York, N.Y.

DIRTY Old Man

BY CHARLES BUKOWSKI

In the Dec. issue of EVERGREEN there is a small poem by one Charles Bukowski far in the back pages, and all through the magazine there is an interview of LeRoi Jones, poems by LeRoi Jones, ads for LeRoi Jones' latest book, plus a speech by the departed Malcolm X - "God's Judgment of White America." EVERGREEN was beginning to look like EBONY. I read on through, later in the day the woman came over with my 3 year old child. we sat down to dinner.

"I think I'll write a poem called WHO'S AFRAID OF LEROI JONES?"

"YOU'RE afraid of LeRoi Jones!" the woman shouted, she was a very liberal white liberal liberal.

"WHO'S AFRAID OF LEROI JONES?" I asked again, looking at my little girl.

she pointed an arm at me over her ground round and french fries, "YOU ARE! YOU ARE!"

the woman was meanwhile pantering and bantering, her voice neurotically high-pitched, explaining to me the meaning of black America and LeRoi Jones, only in the way that a very liberal white liberal female can do. I was not attacking LeRoi Jones but I had somehow stepped upon sacred ground and he was being defended, almost violently. it was nice - for LeRoi, hell, I remembered him when we were BOTH scratching to get our poetry into the little magazines, now I was STILL scratching I was still the better poet, his plays had put him over. the fat dull whitey wives no longer getting their sex got it through Jones' black violence in his plays. oh Lord, honey, that man FRIGHTENS me, but I'd LIKE to see one of his plays. ooooooh, let's go see one of his plays!" the old man, after a hard day at the ballpoint pen office, would take her to the play anything, rather than try to get his dick hard.

"I don't understand," I said, "Hitler told me that the whites were the superior race and now Jones turns around and tells me that the blacks are the superior race."

"well, who do YOU think is the superior race?"

"it depends upon who you are, if you are white then the white race is superior, if you are black, then the black, if you are yellow then the yellow, if you are mixed, then the mongrel . . ."

she went on some more, sentence running into sentence she must have spoken ten minutes without pause. a little of it was good stuff, most of it was just religious sacrifice at the altar, hot white liberal liberal female air, even Jones wouldn't want to hear it.

"how many blacks have you known?" I asked.

this is always a good stopper in a religious argument, being a common laborer all my life at poor and underpaid jobs I had worked with more black men, known more black men, drank with more black men, fought with more black men than any theoretical liberal with books jammed between the ears, coming up through the back streets of New Orleans in a light rain with my paper suitcase, a high yellow sitting on her porch showing leg had named me, she laughed and shouted, "POOR WHITE TRASH!" I put down my paper suitcase and looked up her legs. "Come on!" she said, "come on, poor white trash and get yourself a little!" I saw a curtain move just a little and behind it this black male face, eyes beautiful with murder for my 2 dollars and twenty cents, then I laughed, feeling good in the early sun, picked up my suitcase full of poems and moved on down the street.

"Jones got out on 25,000 dollars bail," I threw at her, money only represents evil to the white liberal ladies - until you stop giving it to them.

"well, YOU got out of jail, in ten minutes, YOU had bail!"

"it took 6 or 7 hours, the bail was between 20 and 30 dollars, I had it in my dresser but it took me a long time to find somebody who would trust me for it. Jones got up $2,500 in cash, if you want comparisons, plus 2 houses, friends of his parents, I don't know anybody who owns a house, I don't even have parents. I'm still poor white trash."

"Jones' house doesn't belong to him, it belongs to the Negro community."

"oh, shit," I said, so there it was, haggling over LeRoi Jones over the french fries to find out who owns a man's house find out who is shitting in the crapper and who is fucking in the bed you can bet he owns part of it, also, if you have to ring the bell to get in, you don't own any of it.

I decided to let the conversation go but she had hold of it.

"suppose you kept walking down the street and getting punched in the nose and told you were getting punched in the nose because of the color of your skin, how would you feel? you can't blame them for wanting Black Power, Black Power isn't anything because they don't have any power. . . ."

she went on and on and on I didn't have any particular argument with her, she only PRESUMED that I did, but I knew that if the blacks ever got total power they would kill her long before they got around to me, so I listened and listened and then kissed the little girl goodbye and drove on down to work.

down there, 9 out of ten of them are black but you forget this as the years go on, it's nothing special until the female white liberal liberals make it so, we worked away, then I said, "LEROI JONES!"

the one next to me turned, and here was the finger again, "you BETTER NOT SAY ANYTHING ABOUT LEROI JONES!"

"my little girl says that I am afraid of him"

"YOU ARE! YOU ARE! YOU BETTER NOT SAY ANYTHING ABOUT LEROI JONES!"

"what will happen if I do?"

"you'll be taken care of, that's what will happen!"

"you mean mentally or physically?"

"we don't care about the mental, his boys will handle you the other way."

"you mean I can't have freedom of speech?"

"you just be careful what you say! LeRoi Jones is an INTERNATIONALLY RENOWNED PLAYWRIGHT! who are you? you just be careful!"

"give me a cigarette."

"hell no, buy your own, they sell them in the machines."

his friend walked over, "hello, brother," he said.

"hello, brother," I answered.

"you gonna invite me over to your house for breakfast?" (we work nights.)

"sure, we're having grits and beans, only I don't have a house."

"you got a front door?"

"yeah."

"well, I'm comin' to the front door in broad daylight and ring your bell, I'm not comin' to the back door so's people will think I'm some servant or trashman or delivery boy, I'm comin' in BROAD DAYLIGHT so's they can see my skin, I'm comin' to your FRONT door!"

"brother Roy, my front door is your front door as long as the rent is paid."

"good, and I'm gonna grow me some of that shit like you got on your chin and I'm gonna get me some young hippy girl and we gonna walk down Sunset Blvd, hand in hand, right, down Sunset Boulevard."

"I'd like to get me one of those nice young blonde hippy girls myself," I told him.

after some remarks about Gov. Reagan he walked over and sat down, we worked away, while back at my place the mother of my child got ready to go to a communist party meeting, of all white members.

a pretty fucked-up scene.

eh, LeRoi?

brother?

By CHARLES BUKOWSKI

I was going over my old Racing Forms, having a beer and a smoke, really hungover, shaky, depressed, gently thinking suicide but still hoping for a lucky angel when there was a knock on the door, a very light knock, I barely heard it, I listened and there it was again, I hid my bag of Chesterfields under the fireplace and opened the door just a slit. "Bukowski?" said the voice. "Charles Bukowski?" and there was this woman standing out in a light rain, in the 9 p. m. rain between 2 dying plants on the front porch of the front court in which I lived, badly, among beer, and mouse-shadows, and old copies of Upton Sinclair and Thomas Wolfe and Sinclair Lewis, and I looked out looked out looked out and IT WAS A WOMAN and WHAT a woman in that 9 p. m. rain - long red hair all down the back, Jesus; tons of red miracle, and the face, open with passion, like a flower ripped open with the fingers from the bud, a kind of fire-cheating, and the body, the body was nothing but SEX, sex standing still jumping singing looking flowing humming in the 9 p. m. rain saying, "Bukowski? Charles Bukowski?" and I said, "come on in," and she did, she came in and sat on the chair in front of the fireplace and the walls of the room began to weave in and out like on a trip, and the rug said, what the hell oh my god oooh ooooooooooooooh, and she CROSSED HER LEGS and the skirt was high and

I looked up the thighs, boldly, Jesus I was out of my skull, thighs knees high heels long tight stockings flow and flesh oh lord and she kicked her foot, turned on ankle, ow ow ow, mercy! and the red hair the red hair flocked all along the back of the chair, the red hair on fire in the lamplight, I could barely hold on I could barely understand, I did not deserve to even LOOK, and I knew it.

"care for a beer?" I asked.

"all right," she said.

I got up and I could hardly walk. I had enough hose o put out a forest fire of napalm.

I came back with the beer, didn't give her a glass, watched her drink it from the bottle, that stuff going into her, into her red hair into her body into her everywhere and I peered up her legs not getting enough and I drank out of the bottle.

she put down her bottle. "you are a great writer," she said.

"that's no reason for coming to see me."

"yes it is, yes it is, you see you fascinate me, you write this way and you look like, you look like - "

"the trashman?"

"yes, or a diseased gorilla, an undergrown aged gorilla dying of cancer, and those god damn eyes, slits of eyes but when you finally OPEN them for just that second - shit, I never saw eyes LIKE THAT, that COLOR, that VICIOUS FIRE - "

"and you came here to see what I was, see what I am, oh?"

"I guess so, I don't know. I don't know why I'm here, I don't. I only know that I'm here. I can't help it, you're a gorilla, you're some kind of snake, you're anything filthy, you stink, I don't know you, I know that you're not the guy at Bryan's staff meetings, threatening cripples, staggering about the room, cursing everybody and looking for more to drink more to drink more to drink, such a swine you are!"

"a woman always wants to find the core, tame it, mold it, a wise man never shows the core to a woman, he just gives her a shot of light, shuts it off, becomes himself again, a woman practices rearing the child by taming the man first I've got no use for women except to fuck them, I won't be trapped in love is a form of selfishness, love is an excuse for cowards to quit"

"nicely spoken, sounds all right, bastard, but what does it mean?"

she lifted her beerbottle again, recrossed her legs, the skirt going HIGHER, Jesus have mercy, the skirt going HIGHER, all that leg, all that thigh, all that red HAIR, god.

I got up and pulled the beerbottle from her mouth and put my dirty bearded face to hers, my lips sucking and twisting at hers, hard full crazy, she did not push me away, I grabbed her under the back, I had her back arched, I had her head rolling on the back of the chair, our lips splashed together spiced together crazy, my hand under the back of that BIG body, god, the beerbottle knocked over and spewing on the floor, and I reached down with the other hand and ripped her skirt all the way UP, lord lord lord then I had her standing, I was walking pushing her all over the room, feeling that red hair around my ears across my face, feeling

ing miracle and madness, and then I worked the pants down and then I HAD HER, I HAD HER, I HAD HER, and I worked, I grabbed that long red hair and I yanked down on it, I had her back arched hurting her and I HAD HER I worked and holding the hair still in my hands in back I got the cheeks and spread them wide, I had her nailed in the center of the rug, I had her on the cross, it was too late for her, she was on the spike, ripped ripped and the yellow light from the lamps bathed us and all that could be heard was our breathing and our grappling, who would have guessed? who? and then BANG the walls shook, a man on the street stepped on a grease spot, fell and broke his ankle and we slid apart like worms going in different directions, and she stood there then and said, "ooooh oooooh oooooh I liked it, I liked it I liked it, you filthy greasy pig," and then she turned and walked into the bathroom and closed the door. I went into the kitchen, took a dishtowel, wiped off, got out 2 more beers, lit a smoke.

she came on out, looking better than ever, she glowed all over burning, she was really beautiful, I could say it easy, she was really beautiful, I drink my beer and looked at her, neither of us saying anything. I lit her a cigarette, then I had to piss. I went to the bathroom, closed the door, pissed, flushed, washed my hands, came out, and she was . . . gone, fast like that, no goodbye, nothing. I looked at the chair she had sat in, at the beerbottle on the floor, no, it had happened, yes, I found one of her earrings, a green earring, just one, it's always ONE earring what the hell, but never an earring like this.

I drank my beer straight down, walked outside. It was cold, all up and down DeLongpre it was the same, people locked in tight, behind doors, behind windows, everybody with their possessions, their people, their madness, their bank accounts, their car keys, their walnut faces, their constipation.

I looked north where I figured she lived with some fine intellectual chap who spoke the big words and the big meaning, some guys got these dolls automatically, I was lucky to see a photo in a newspaper, I took the earring the green earring and threw it north, hard, high in the dark sky, it flew out of sight in the neon mash of light from Sunset Boulevard a block north and I said, "here, baby, your earring back and your life and all the rest, baby baby, but thanks for the splendid grade-AAA fuck."

then I went back inside, found her still untouched beer, picked it up, drank drank drank, found the Racing Form, sat down in HER chair and began checking out my plays for the Santa Anita meet, and then I found one long red hair, one very long red hair along the arm of my chair and I picked it up and touched the end of it to my cigarette, it sizzled and shriveled and smoked ever so slightly, I moved the cigarette right up along the hair until it was all burned except to the smallest bit in my fingers and then I put that in the ashtray and burned that.

Charles Bukowski, immortal writer, immortal lover, you can't go home again, it's all too late.

I worked at the beer.

"let me tell you about him." with sick hangover I crawled out from under the sheets the other day to try to get to the store, buy some food, place food inside of me and make the job I hate, all right. I was in this grocery store, and this little shut of a man (he must have been as old as I) but perhaps more comfortable and stupid and idiotic, a chipmunk full of beatlenuts and BOW WOW and no regard for anything except the way he felt or thought or expressed. .. he was a hyena-chipmunk, a piece of sloth, a slug. he kept staring at me. then he said:

HEY!!!

he walked on up and stood there, staring. HEY! he said HEY! he had very round eyes and he stood there staring up at me from out of those very round eyes. the eyes had bottoms like the dirty bottoms of swimmingpools--no reflection. I didn't have but a few minutes, had to rush. I had missed the job the day before and had already been coun-ciled--god knows how many times--for excessive absentee-ism. I really wanted to walk away from him but I was too sick to gather myself. he looked like the manager of an apartment house I had once lived in a few years back, one of those who was always standing in the hall at 3 a. m. when you entered with a strange woman.

he kept staring so I said, I CAN'T REMEMBER YOU. I'M SORRY, I JUST CAN'T REMEM-BER YOU. I'M JUST NOT VERY GOOD AT THAT SORT OF THING, meanwhile, think-ing, why don't you go away? why do you have to be here? I don't like you.

I WAS AT YOUR PLACE, he said. OVER THERE, he point-ed. he turned around and pointed south and east, where I had never lived. worked, but never lived. good. I thought, he's a nut. I don't know him. never knew him far free. I can shove him off

SORRY, I said, BUT YOU'RE MISTAKEN--I DON'T KNOW YOU. NEVER LIVED OVER THERE. SORRY, MAN.

I started to push my basket off.

WELL, MAYBE NOT THERE. BUT I KNOW YOU. IT WAS A PLACE IN THE BACK, YOU LIVED IN A PLACE IN THE BACK, ON THE SECOND FLOOR. IT WAS ABOUT A YEAR AGO.

SORRY, I told him, BUT I DRINK TOO MUCH. I FOR-GET PEOPLE. I DID LIVE IN A PLACE IN BACK, SECOND FLOOR, BUT THAT WAS 5 YEARS AGO.

LISTEN, I'M AFRAID YOU'RE MIXED UP. I'M IN A HURRY, REALLY. I HAVE TO GO, I'M REALLY DOWN TO THE MINUTE NOW.

I rolled on off toward the meat dept.

he ran along beside me.

YOU'RE BUKOWSKI, AREN'T YOU?

YES, I AM.

I WAS THERE. YOU JUST DON'T REMEMBER. YOU WERE DRINKING.

WHO THE HELL BROUGHT YOU OVER?

NOBODY. I CAME ON MY OWN. I WROTE A POEM ABOUT YOU. YOU DON'T REMEMBER. BUT YOU DIDN'T LIKE IT.

UMM, I said

I ONCE WROTE A POEM TO THAT GUY WHO WROTE 'THE MAN WITH THE GOLDEN ARM'. WHAT'S HIS NAME?

ALGREN. NELSON ALGREN, I said.

YEAH, he said, I WROTE A POEM ABOUT HIM. SENT IT TO THIS MAGAZINE. THE EDITOR SUGGESTED THAT I SEND THE POEM TO HIM. ALGREN WROTE BACK, HE WROTE ME BACK A NOTE ON A RACING FORM. 'THIS IS MY LIFE,' HE WROTE ME.

FINE, I said, SO WHAT'S YOUR NAME?

IT DOESN'T MATTER. MY NAME IS 'LEGION'.

VERY FUNNY, I smiled. we trotted along, then stopped. I reached over and got a pack-age of hamburger. then I de-cided to give him the brush-off. I took the hamburger and stuck it in his hand and shook his hand with it, saying, WELL, OK, GOOD TO SEE YOU, BUT MAN, REALLY, I'VE GOT TO GO.

then I shifted into high and pushed my basket out of there, toward the bread dept. he wouldn't shake.

ARE YOU STILL IN THE POST OFFICE? he asked, trotting along.

I'M AFRAID SO.

YOU OUGHT TO GET OUT OF THERE. IT'S A HORRIBLE PLACE. IT'S THE WORST PLACE YOU CAN BE.

I THINK IT IS. BUT YOU SEE, I CAN'T DO ANYTHING, I DON'T HAVE ANY SPECIAL TRAINING.

YOU'RE A GREAT POET, MAN.

GREAT POETS DIE IN STEAMING POTS OF SHIT.

BUT YOU'VE GOT ALL THAT RECOGNITION FROM THE LEFT-WING PEOPLE. CAN'T ANYBODY DO ANY-THING FOR YOU?

left-wing people? this guy was crazy. we trotted along.

I HAVE RECOGNITION. FROM MY BUDDIES AT THE POST OFFICE. I'M RECOG-NIZED AS A LUSH AND A HORSEPLAYER.

CAN'T YOU GET A GRANT OR SOMETHING?

I TRIED LAST YEAR. THE HUMANTITIES. ALL I GOT BACK WAS A FORM-LETTER OF REJECTION.

~~BUT~~ VERY ASS IN THE COUNTRY IS LIVING ON A GRANT.

YOU FINALLY SAID SOMETHING.

DON'T YOU READ AT THE UNIVERSITIES?

I'D RATHER NOT. I CONSIDER IT PROSTITUTION. ALL THEY WANT TO DO IS--

he didn't let me finish. GINSBERG, he said, GINSBERG READS AT THE UNIVERSITIES. AND CREELEY AND OLSON AND DUNCAN AND-- I KNOW.

I reached over and got my bread.

THERE ARE ALL FORMS OF PROSTITUTION, he said.

now he was getting profound. Jesus. I ran toward the vegetable dept.

LISTEN, COULD I SEE YOU AGAIN, SOMETIME?

MY TIME'S SHORT. REALLY TIGHT.

he found a matchbook. HERE, PUT YOUR ADDRESS DOWN IN HERE.

oh christ, I thought, how do you get out without hurting a man's feelings? I wrote the address down.

HOW ABOUT A PHONE NUMBER? he asked. SO YOU'LL KNOW WHEN I'M COMING OVER.

NO, NO PHONE NUMBER. I handed the book back

WHEN'S THE BEST TIME?

IF YOU'VE GOT TO COME, MAKE IT SOME FRIDAY NIGHT AFTER 10.

I'LL BRING A SIX-PACK. AND I'LL HAVE TO BRING MY WIFE. I'VE BEEN MARRIED 27 YEARS.

TOO BAD, I said
OH NO, IT'S THE ONLY WAY.

HOW DO YOU KNOW? YOU DON'T KNOW ANY OTHER WAY.

IT ELIMINATES JEALOUSY AND STRIFE. YOU OUGHT TO TRY IT.

IT DOESN'T ELIMINATE, IT ADDS. AND I'VE TRIED IT.

OH YEAH, I REMEMBER READING IT IN ONE OF YOUR POEMS. A RICH WOMAN.

we hit the vegetables. the frozen ones.

I WAS IN THE VILLAGE IN THE 30's. I KNEW BODENHEIM. TERRIBLE. HE GOT MURDERED. LAYING AROUND IN ALLEYS LIKE THAT. MURDERED OVER SOME TRASHY WOMAN. I WAS IN THE VILLAGE THEN. I WAS A BOHEMIAN. I'M NO BEAT. AND I'M NO HIPPY. DO YOU READ THE 'FREE PRESS'?

SOMETIMES. TERRIBLE.

he meant that he thought the hippies were terrible. he was being profoundly sloppy.

I PAINT TOO. I SOLD A PAINTING TO MY PSYCHIATRIST. $320. ALL PSYCHIATRISTS ARE SICK, VERY SICK PEOPLE.

more 1933 profundity.

YOU REMEMBER THAT I OEE YOU WROTE ABOUT GOING DOWN TO THE BEACH AND CLIMBING DOWN THE CLIFF TO THE SAND AND SEEING ALL THOSE LOVERS DOWN THERE AND YOU WERE ALONE AND WANTED TO GET OUT FAST. YOU GOT OUT SO FAST YOU LEFT YOUR SHOES DOWN THERE WITH THEM. IT WAS A GREAT POEM ABOUT LONLINESS.

it was a poem about how HARD it was to EVER GET alone. but I didn't tell him that.

I picked up a package of frozen potatoes and made for the check stand. he trotted along beside me.

I WORK AS A DISPLAYMAN. IN THE MARKETS. $154 A WEEK. I ONLY HIT THE OFFICE ONCE A WEEK. I WORK FROM ELEVEN A.M. TO FOUR P.M.

ARE YOU WORKING NOW?

OH YEAH, I'M WORKING ON DISPLAYS IN HERE NOW. WISH I HAD SOME INFLUENCE. I'D GET YOU ON.

the boy at the checkstand began tabbing the groceries.

HEY! my friend yelled. DON'T MAKE HIM PAY FOR THOSE GROCERIES! HE'S A POET!

the boy at the checkstand was all right. he didn't say anything. just went on tabbing it up.

my friend screamed again: HE'S A GREAT POET! DON'T MAKE HIM PAY FOR HIS GROCERIES.

HE LIKES TO TALK, I said to the checkstand boy.

the checkstand boy was all right. I paid and took my bag.

LISTEN, I'VE GOT TO GO. I said to my friend.

somehow, he could not leave the store. some fear. he wanted to keep his good job. wonderful. it felt very good to see him standing in there by the checkstand. not trotting along beside me.

I'LL BE SEEING YOU, he said.

I waved him away from under the bag.

outside were the parked cars, and the people walking around. none of them read poetry, talked poetry, wrote poetry. for once the masses looked very reasonable to me. I got to my car, threw the stuff in and sat there a moment. a woman got out of the car next to me and I watched as her skirt fell back and showed me flashes of white leg above the stockings. one of the world's greatest works of Art; a woman with fine legs climbing out of her car. she stood up and the skirt fell back down. for a moment she smiled at me, then she turned and moved it all, wobbling, balancing, shivering toward the grocery store. I started the car and backed out. I had almost forgotten my friend. but he wouldn't forget me. tonight he would say:

DEAR, GUESS WHO I SAW IN THE GROCERY TODAY? HE LOOKED ABOUT THE SAME, MAYBE NOT AS BLOATED, AND HE HAS THIS LITTLE THING ON HIS CHIN.

WHO WAS IT?
CHARLES BUKOWSKI.
WHO'S THAT?

A POET. HE'S SLIPPED. HE CAN'T WRITE AS WELL AS HE USED TO. BUT HE USED TO WRITE SOME GREAT STUFF.

POEMS OF LONLINESS. HE'S REALLY A VERY LONELY FELLOW BUT HE DOESN'T KNOW IT. WE'RE GOING TO SEE HIM THIS FRIDAY NIGHT.

BUT I DON'T HAVE ANYTHING TO WEAR.

HE WON'T CARE. HE DOESN'T LIKE WOMEN.

HE DOESN'T LIKE WOMEN? YEAH. HE TOLD ME.

LISTEN, GUSTAV, THE LAST POET WE WENT TO SEE WAS A TERRIBLE PERSON. WE HADN'T BEEN THERE MUCH MORE THAN AN HOUR AND HE GOT DRUNK AND STARTED THROWING BOTTLES ACROSS THE ROOM AND CUSSING.

THAT WAS BUKOWSKI. ONLY HE DOESN'T REMEMBER US.

NO WONDER. BUT HE'S VERY LONELY. WE SHOULD GO SEE HIM. ALLRIGHT, IF YOU SAY SO, GUSTAV.

THANK YOU, SWEETIE. don't you wish you were Charles Bukowski? I can paint too. lift weights. and my little girl thinks that I am God. then other times, it's not so good.

RESULTS OF INVESTIGATION:

AT NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

NO T-1 on January 3, 1968 made available part of a magazine entitled "Cop Killer" dated January, 1968 and which is described as edition number one under the editorship of [] and [] Box 2342, New Orleans, Louisiana.

NO T-1 further advised that numerous names and addresses of individuals appear as contributors to this magazine including the name CHARLES BUKOWSKI, 5124 Delongpre Avenue, Los Angeles, California.

NO T-1 also stated that [] and [] are members of the New Orleans Movement for a Democratic Society (NOMDS) and that both have been active in the New Orleans area in anti-Vietnam War activity. La

NO T-1 advised that the NOMDS was formerly known as the New Orleans Committee to End the War in Vietnam (NOCEWV). The latter committee voted to change its name to the NOMDS in the Spring of 1967, and a constitution prepared for it specified that it was an affiliate of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS).

APPENDIXSTUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), as it is known today, came into being at a founding convention held at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. The SDS is an association of young people on the left and has a current program of protesting the draft, promoting a campaign for youth to develop a conscientious objector status, denouncing United States intervention in the war in Vietnam and to "radically transform" the university community, and provide for its complete control by students. Gus Hall, General Secretary, Communist Party, USA, when interviewed by a representative of United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us." At the June, 1965, SDS National Convention, an anti-Communist proviso was removed from the SDS constitution.

In the October 7, 1966, issue of "New Left Notes", the official publication of SDS, an SDS spokesman stated that there are some Communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization, as of April 18, 1967, was located in Room 206, 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

AT FT. WORTH, TEXAS

On April 15, 1968, Mr. [REDACTED] Chief, Reference Service Branch, Federal Records Center, made available the U. S. Attorney's, Eastern District of Louisiana, File #12974, in Federal Records Center Container #12106, on HENRY CHARLES BUKOWSKI, JR., which disclosed the following pertinent information:

On June 21, 1944, Mrs. [REDACTED] Chief Clerk, Local Draft Board #2, New Orleans, Louisiana, submitted a letter to the U. S. Attorney's Office, New Orleans, Louisiana, asking for assistance in getting Registrant BUKOWSKI examined by a Medical Advisory Board. This letter further advised the Registrant was rejected for Military Service on July 2, 1943, by reason of "Military Unsuitable Group 5". Prior to reporting, he advised Local Draft Board #2 by letter that he did not have any intentions of reporting for induction due to his personal philosophy, and wanted to know just what action Local Draft Board #2 would take in view of that information. Local Draft Board #2 advised him unless he reported, the matter would be handled by the U. S. Attorney's Office, New Orleans.

For several months following his rejection, the case was not re-opened, but after the medical survey program was put into effect, Local Draft Board #2, endeavored to have him examined by a Psychiatrist, in order to determine if Registrant was a malingerer.

On March 15, 1944, Local Draft Board #2, had been unsuccessful in locating Registrant at any of the various addresses that was furnished to Local Draft Board #2. All mail was returned "Unclaimed". Last address was Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

On June 27, 1944, this case was referred to the FBI Office, New Orleans, Louisiana, by the U. S. Attorney's Office, New Orleans, for investigation.

On August 7, 1944, the Registrant was examined by Armed Service Forces, Armed Forces Induction Station, 32nd Street and Lancaster Avenue, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, by [REDACTED] Captain, Q.M.C. Induction Officer and was found to be physically and mentally disqualified for military service and rejected for "Failing To Meet Medical Standards."

b6
b7C

DL-140-1160

On August 25, 1944, the U. S. Attorney's Office, New Orleans, Louisiana, closed their case since Registrant had corrected his delinquency with Local Draft Board #2, by reporting for Physical Examination and found to^{be} physically unfit for military service.
